With charity on her mind, our cool columnist is heading into the sunset on a girl's road trip with her BFF Paris Hilton

Paris Hilton and I are heading off on a four-day tour across Europe. We've been friends since we were 16... Well, she was 16, I wasn't. We met in St Tropez when I was young – she is still young.

We used to holiday together every year in the same house. I called her up and asked her to do this car tour with me – and we are actually going!

Each year, forty red cars and eighty influential international women from the worlds of fashion, film, music, art and business are handpicked to join the Cash & Rocket Tour.

The idea is that through female solidarity, we raise money for global charities that provide life-changing support to women and children in need.

We will be filming the entire journey, which will see us start in London, then drive on to Paris, Geneva, ending up in Monte Carlo, Monaco. It will be hilarious.

The whole thing is being sponsored by Michael Kors, so we are wearing Michael Kors jumpsuits.

Each night there is a theme in the city we are in, and we have to follow the instructions telling us how we have to dress.

We will be driving a Mercedes G-63 Wagen... Paris has so much luggage, which is why we have had to take a bigger vehicle.

We were the first crew to raise AED47,000 [US$12,797], and have now reached over AED92,000 [US$25,000], so we are way ahead of the game.

We are really into it and it's good for everybody, good for the soul.

I mean we all live such privileged, superficial lives, so it makes me feel good at the end of the day.

Don't worry, it's all set up and well organised – and we stay overnight in luxury hotels!

After it's wrapped up, I fly back to Dubai for four days, before heading off to New York to meet up with the Duchess of York.

Sarah and I then fly on to Haiti together to see the 3,000 children that we have put through school – thanks to the charity I have been working for for four years.

I will be in Haiti for four days.

So it's going to be a real feel-good summer for me.
